they flock and fly together from the Sea towa shores; and contrary wise, Land-birds (as Crow.
lows &c.) when they fly from the Lands to the wa.
and beat the waters with their wings, doo fore-shev Rain and Wind.

The circles that appear about the Sun, if they be re & broken, it portendeth wind: if thick & dark, wind.
Snow or Rain, which are also presaged by the sev.
about the Moon: White ragged Clouds appearing lik
Horses mains and tailes, presageth great Winds.

Thunder in the Morning, if it be to the South-westward, & the wind be there, denotes many times a Tempestuous day; also a Rain bow or water gall in the west presages a stormy wet day: Also the Sun-dogs (as they call them) appearing in the Morning or Evening, is a sign of [illegible] Wet & windy weather, especially in the Winter time.

I will write no Quarterly judgment upon [illegible] ju ing what is inserted in the foregoing p[illegible]y suffice, o.
only as touching the Winter Quarter, because of the ma.
Bears, Wolves, and other wild Creatures coming down out of the Country to the Sea side, may presage a very Cold, hard Winter, as we have experienced this time two year.

As touching what may be presaged by the Lunar Eclipse in February this year, and the Locust & other worms sodying the fruits of the Earth the last year: I shall be silent and conclude with saying,

This Year, That we shall happy be,
If we are kept from Sinfulness free.

The Lord fit us for his will.

Advertisement. Speedily may be Published a Book, Entituled, The Everlasting Gospel, The Glorious and Infinite Love of the Righteousness of GOD, as it Hath been Preached in the Churches of New England, Expressed in a Brief Discourse, on that Important Article, made at Boston in the year 1696. Attested with the Attestations of several Reverend & Eminent [illegible] considerable in those Churches. Sold by [illegible] at his Shop at the corner of Gutteridge [illegible]

tural Prognosticks for the judgment of the Weather.

THe resounding of the Sea upon the shore, and the murmur of Winds in the Woods without apparent wind, shew wind to follow; for such winds breathing chiefly out of the earth, are not at the first perceived, except they be pent by Water or Wood: And therefore a murmur out of Caves likewise portendeth the same. The obscuring of the smaller Stars is a sign of Tempest following: Also if the Stars seem to shoot, winds from that quarter the Star came from.

The often changing of the Wind also sheweth Tempests. If two Rain-bows appear, Rain: a Rain-bow presently after Rain, Fair Weather. If the skie red in the Morning are token of Winds or Rain, because those vapours which cause the colour will presently be resolved.

If the Sun or Moon look pale, look for Rain, if fair and bright fair Weather, if red winds; If a dark cloud be at Sun rising in which the Sun soon after is hid, it will dissolve it, and Rain will follow: if then appear a Cloud, and after vapours are seen to ascend up to it, that portendeth Rain. If the Sun seem greater in the East than commonly it doth, it is a sign of Rain, if in the West about Sun setting there appear a black cloud, it will Rain that night or the day following, because that cloud shall want heat to disperse it.

If mists come down from the Hills, or descend from the Heavens, and settle in the Vallies, it promiseth fair Hot Weather: Mists in the Evening, shew a hot day on the Morrow; the like when white mists rise from the Waters in the Evening.
